First Class Honours

Dissertation: “The Heterogeneous Impact of Right to Buy Policy on Residential Gas Consumption”

WORKING PAPER

The Economic Cost of Pollinator Loss: Evidence from an Invasive Species

Draft Available Upon Request

Insect pollinators are in global decline, yet their economic value remains poorly quantified. This paper exploits the staggered invasion of the Asian hornet (Vespa velutina)—a predator of pollinators—across France to estimate causal effects on agriculture. Using a difference-in-differences design, I find that hornet invasion reduces beehive counts by 11.4%, oilseed rape yields by 5.2%, and farmland prices by 4.3%.

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Predoctoral Researcher Nov. 2024 – Present

EchoLab, Stanford University

Principal Investigator: Marshall Burke

Environmental economics and remote sensing applications

Research Assistant Sep. 2022 – Sep. 2023

University of Warwick

Principal Investigators: Thiemo Fetzer & Ludovica Gasse

Contributed to research projects on energy efficiency in the UK; cleaned, matched, and analyzed large datasets of address-level administrative and energy data

Research Assistant Jul. – Sep. 2022

University of Chicago Energy & Environment Lab (Remote)

Principal Investigator: Ludovica Gasse

Contributed to published research (Browne et al., 2024, Review of Economics and Statistics); conducted min-max re-randomization and power analysis for stratified RCT; cleaned and visualized water consumption and drought data

TRAINING

E4C Summer School in Environmental Data Collection and Analysis Jun. 2025

Institut Polytechnique de Paris

SKILLS

Programming: R (advanced), Git (advanced), Stata (intermediate), LaTeX (intermediate), Python (basic), QGIS (intermediate)

Languages: French (native), English (fluent), German (basic)

LEADERSHIP & SERVICE

Press & Communication Coordinator, Warwick Economics Summit	2021–2023
Class Representative, University of Warwick Economics Department	2020–2021
Team Leader, UNICEF School Project, University of Warwick	2020–2021

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Environmental and climate economics, ecosystem services valuation, behavioral economics, applied econometrics, spatial data analysis
